Mommy's Light benefits from auction at People's Light

America's home shopping diva, Kathy Levine, lived up to her name as she deftly auctioned off a week-long stay at a fabulous castle in Brittany, France at the inaugural "Night of Stars" benefit for Mommy's Light Lives On Fund, at the Farmhouse at The People's Light & Theater in Malvern. NBC's Steve Levy and Linda Swain co-hosted the event, helping to raise more than $35,000 for the organization.

More than 140 guests attended, bidding on dozens of tempting prizes, including a Comcast luxury box at the Wachovia Center for a 76ers game and an exquisite diamond necklace from Bernie Robbins Jeweler. Proceeds from the event will benefit Mommy's Light, a Delaware Valley-based nonprofit organization that brings joy and comfort to children and teens whose mothers are in life-threatening situations or are deceased. Visit www.mommyslight.org.

Mommy's Light was founded by Mary Murphy of Newtown Square less than three months before she died of cancer. Mary and her son created a plan to keep her spirit alive by preserving special traditions they shared. That philosophy is the basis for Mommy's Light's program today. Currently, Mommy's Light's services are available to children and teens in southeastern Pennsylvania and southern New Jersey and northern Delaware.

David Goldberg and his wife Gail of St. Davids chatted with Evan and Elizabeth Hunt of Elverson at the event. Mr. Goldberg represented Bernie Robbins Jewelers in Radnor who provided jewelry for auction at the event.
